PUBLIC INPUT NEEDED TO PRIORITIZE FUTURE PARKS PROJECTS

(KILLEEN, TEXAS): The City of Killeen is seeking public input to prioritize potential future parks projects. Adults and youth are encouraged to participate by taking an online survey at www.killeentexas.gov/parks.

The City's Parks Master Plan Update is nearing completion following a yearlong planning process that solicited public opinion through an online public survey, stakeholder meetings and a public open house. The draft plan can be viewed at www.killeentexas.gov/parks.

The draft plan contains a series of preliminary recommendations to improve and expand the parks, recreation and open space system. It was developed based on the public input, in-depth analysis of the existing parks and recreation system and identifying key current and future deficiencies through a needs assessment. The recommendations could be implemented over the next five to 20 years.

The City needs the public's input to prioritize potential projects. Through an online survey, individuals can indicate the level of importance they associate with recommendations in the plan. The survey will take approximately 20 minutes to complete and will help guide future parks and recreation decisions. Surveys must be completed by November 9.
